—Arthur W. Johnson informs us that Fred Miller threshed their oats a few days since, and the yield was 754 bushels from 10 acres, making it 47 1/2 bushels to the acre. He also showed us a sample of Wagner apples, also pears which were the largest we ever saw. The Johnson farm must surely be a good one to bring forth such products.

—Here is an item calculated to make home happier and life longer: Thousands of people, when drying their faces after washing, wipe them downward—that is from forehead to chin. This is a mistake. Always use upward—from chin to the forehead—and outward—toward the ear motions. Never wipe any part of the face downward.

—The street fair at North Baltimore was a very successful affair. There were many features worthy of note. The fair was an open or free exhibition of the products of the farm, the garden, the factory, and of every branch of business that is represented in the live and pretty town of North Baltimore. It was arranged and produced under the auspices of the business men and farmers in the vicinity of North Baltimore and was indeed a worthy representation of the industrious people of that vicinity. The displays in all departments were excellent, especially the stock. Taking the fair in its entirety it was certainly a very creditable one.

—The ringing of bells announced a fire on Tuesday noon last, and several people ran to the engine house. John Amon got there first and seizing hold of the engine ran into the street with it. It is not every boy that can jerk the old man killer around in that style, but John is expecting to be appointed Chief of the department, and was keeping his reputation up as a fireman. When the announcement was made that the fire was about a mile out of town John concluded it would be well to get some assistance, and started for Pliny Ray, but as Plin could not be found the engine didn't go to the scene of flame. The fire was caused by sparks from an engine which ignited the grass in the Catholic cemetery and would have caused considerable loss had it not been for the kindness and prompt service rendered by the Crane brothers.

The name of A. G. Williams of this place will be presented to the Lay Electoral Conference, as a candidate for Delegate to the General Conference with the hearty endorsement and co-operation of the official board of the Perryburg M. E. church.

This church as one of the oldest churches in the Conference, has at no time in her history come before the brethren of the Conference asking for honors in behalf of a yoke-fellow nor for honors for herself, and in presenting the name of Mr. Williams for the office of Delegate it is done with the full appreciation of the important duties to be performed, and his fitness for the discharge of such duties. Having a thorough knowledge of the departmental work of Methodism, Mr. Williams is also conversant with current questions affecting church interests, and possesses a trend of mind that ever makes remedial suggestion follow criticism. He has remarkable fitness for the office and if elected, the same spirit of faithfulness that influences his action with the church would make his representation of this Conference most acceptable and satisfactory to all the brethren.

If Mr. Williams is elected it will be one of the highest honors that could be conferred by the church, and this action of the brethren of the church is but a just recognition of a worthy member. There are of course, other candidates for the office, from old and very influential churches, but none more worthy of the honor than Mr. Williams and the Perryburg charge of the M. E. church.

THE BUILDING BOOM IN PERRYBURG.

Leading to Further Developments in Business Prosperity.

The building boom in Perryburg that is now in process, exceeds in utility and value similar results in an aggregate covering a period of thirty years.

The following summary will tell what is being done:

The St. Rose de Lima Catholic church of Gothic style, material dressed stone, etc., inside now receiving its finish will seat 800 persons. Its total cost will be about $30,000.

The Way Library Building now in process of construction. Its total cost will be in the neighborhood of $11,000.

The First Presbyterian church now in process of construction will be completed by November 20 next at an estimated cost of from $5,000 to $6,000 will seat from 400 to 500 persons.

The Sheridan brick manufactory of three stories 40x120 with brick, engine and boiler house, brick tinning shop, and office all finished and ready for occupation, probable cost, $12,000.

A frame dwelling now in process of erection by Ex-Commissioner James H. Pierce, every arrangement within it of modern style, together with the fine architectural appearance of its exterior, will make it when completed one of the most convenient and attractive dwellings in Perryburg. The estimated cost is $8,500.

These six buildings will together represent an investment of over $60,000. In addition to these there are also many old buildings which have been improved, or placed in process of re-construction, all of which go to show that the village of Perryburg is passing from its chrysalis state to a higher and more active form and development, in which the interests of religion, of literary and scientific education, and manufacturing enterprise prevail.

With such institutions, as a basis of usefulness and of credit to the village it becomes our duty as citizens to co-operate in endeavors to advance its business interests, so that productive enterprise, wealth, and population may contribute their due share in making this pleasant and attractive village a source of prosperity, and of happiness to its citizens.

FIFTH WARD SIDE WALKS.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—There are a great number of people in the north-eastern part of town who would like to know why our council don't have the sidewalk on the north side of Indiana ave. repaired. With a few exceptions it is nothing but loose and rotten plank from the new library building down north to the end of the walk. Do they intend to wait till somebody breaks a limb or worse still, their necks?
